Ms. Eagen described Williamsburg Charter as an innovative, community charter. She used Ms. Putz’s attendance via BEAM as an example of the types of technology available to WCHS’ students. Ms. Eagen described Ms. Williams as forward-thinking educator at the helm of the school and the Board as the fiduciaries of public funds. The Board and two other potential trustees, Heather Cabrera and Alexandra Gordon, introduced themselves.

literacy program. Ms. Eagen pointed out how these programs are examples of the types of innovation that occur at Williamsburg Charter.

4. ENROLLMENT
Ms. Pierre stated that the current enrollment is 999 although she anticipates the number will drop in coming weeks. Ms. Eagen explained that the School does not bill for any additional students once enrollment meets 963; however, if the School consistently enrolls a higher number in the coming years and keeps a healthy waitlist the School may consider applying for a charter revision to increase its enrollment capacity. Ms. Putz asked Ms. Pierre if a waitlist is being utilized. Ms. Pierre assured her that the School has a healthy waitlist.

5. ACCOUNTABILITY
a. Nonmaterial Changes Submission
Ms. Manion notified the Board that she plans on submitting nonmaterial changes to the DOE on behalf of the School. The nonmaterial changes include minor, approved modifications to the Organizational Chart, Board Bylaws, and School Goals that were discussed in previous meetings.

b. Transfer Application
Ms. Eagen discussed the status of the School’s authorizer transfer application from NYCDOE to NYSED. She and Ms. Manion spoke with NYSED Charter School Office (NYSED CSO) Counsel, Karonne Jarrett Watson, regarding changes that would need to be made to school handbooks and the Board Bylaws. David Frank, NYSED CSO Executive Director, is interested in meeting with the Board for a capacity interview in Albany. Ms. Putz requested that the meeting take place in Brooklyn. Ms. Eagen stated that Mr. Frank sees his office’s relationship with the charters he authorizes as a partnership. This decision will likely be made in November by the Board of Regents.

6. FINANCE
Mr. Rivera read Ms. Fernandez’s report on her behalf. He read “the total revenue for 12 months is $16,077,185. The total expenses for 12 months are $16,101,160. The excess of revenue over expenses is $23,975 and the surplus is $976,972.”

Ms. Eagen stated that she and Paul Leleck met with Mr. Grossman, the School’s landlord, about the possibility of purchasing the building. He is open to the idea although more discussion needs to take place regarding the value of the building. She and Kathy Fernandez are working with an outside auditor to assess the building along with its operations and finances to determine what type of lease we could afford if the landlord would sell the building as part of a bond sale. Mr. Witherspoon confirmed he spoke with the auditor and is pleased that the School’s records are in order.
